

The goal of our 3-day event, including full-day workshop, is to link HR thinking and game design techniques in a way that is strongly aligned with main business priorities while providing live examples of gaming experience, teamwork, and high-impact takeaways on the strategic approach of the topic – instead of merely offering some practices regarding particular applications.